Cutting edge cloud-based technology for cash and derivatives data

Today's competitive and cost-sensitive marketplace is crying out for an innovative, cost-effective market data platform.

Hosted on the cloud, DGX leverages cutting-edge technology to provide you with real-time financial information while slashing your data spend. It gives you exactly what you need and nothing you don't.

Advanced technology, cost-effective delivery

DGX is a revolutionary cloud-based real-time market data, news, chat and analysis platform, delivering the widest range of cash and derivatives market data direct to your desktop, iPad or mobile device through a modern, user-friendly interface.

More cost-effective than installed systems, DGX is hosted on the secure SuperDerivatives cloud.

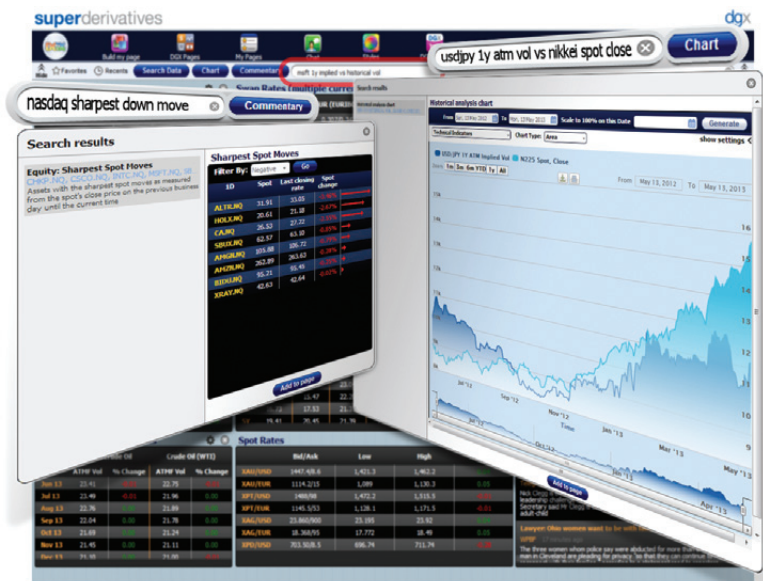

Free text search

no complicated codes

DGX's intuitive, cloud-based GUI removes the complexity associated with old-fashioned installed data services. With DGX's search option, there's no need to memorise complex codes or tickers – giving you a more intuitive free-text search option.

No expensive terminals and licenses – DGX enhances your trading operations while slashing your data spend.

Live news and market commentary

With DGX you can see live news and market commentary from a variety of sources, including Twitter, as well as an economic calendar so you're always in the loop.

Real-time and historical charting

DGX allows you to view both real-time and historical charts across all asset classes – simply choose an asset, select a chart and customise it. With real-time charts, the latest data will be automatically generated when you open the chart, while historical charts let you see the exact timeframe you want to view.

Cutting-edge functionality

DGX's extensive range of features includes a modern chat interface, allowing you to build an online community. You can import your contacts from other chat systems as well as connect to any DGX user, organise group chats, hold video conferences and share files.

Because the system is widget based, you can configure everything to your preferences, save your customised screens, and share them with other users.

Widest depth and coverage of data

DGX offers the widest range of cash and derivatives data pulled together from a large variety of data sources – which means you get the most accurate representation of true market rates directly to your computer or mobile device.

Multi-asset coverage includes FX, commodities, interest rates, credit and equities.

DGX also makes it easy to transfer market data into your existing Excel spreadsheet, customise it and generate live calculations with a push of a button.
